Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

- 1) ☒ Responsive to communication(s) filed on 05 March 2008.
- 2a) ☒ This action is FINAL. 2b) ☐ This action is non-final.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Aoki (US 7224778 B2), hereinafter referred as Aoki.

- a. Regarding claim 1, Aoki disclosed a method for managing opt-out or unsubscribe information (Fig. 1, item 42; column 5, line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription) comprising collecting an e-mail address and contextual information for a user (column 5, lines 27-39: listing of approved message sources maintained for each individual destination user address along with predetermined parameters); storing the e-mail address and contextual information in a database (column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database); processing the e-mail

- address and contextual information for rule-based and learning-based use (column 4, lines 45-54: filter rules provided; column 3, line 32-65: complete subscription agreement on a visit to a web site; Fig. 3, items 104, 114, 116, 38 and column 6, lines 4-26: new subscription upon a message not part of any authorized subscription; 1st paragraph on page 7 of applicant's specification); and distributing or sharing the e-mail address and contextual information, and derived processed data to an entity entitled to such information, at intervals or upon request (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating approved list; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 5, lines 27-39: controlled or periodically updated).
- b. Regarding claim 2, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, wherein the act of collecting opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information includes: input from a plurality of sources, including HTML form inputs, HTTP links, bulk text-file import, or other input mechanisms (column 3, lines 30-65: World Wide Web site and email; column 6, lines 35-42: Web page, email).
- c. Regarding claim 3, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: configuring the act of collecting opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information (column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database automatically assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber).
- d. Regarding claim 4, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: selecting a distribution method from a plurality of methods including File Transport

- Protocol (FTP), E-mail, Hypertext Transfer Protocol (HTTP), Graphical User Interface (GUI), or other network transport mechanism (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 6, lines 35-42: Web page, email).
- e. Regarding claim 5, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to conform to legal standards or best practices for e-mail marketing (column 1, lines 32-39: legitimate subscription-type messages; column 3, lines 4-21: legitimate recurring messages; column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database; line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription; column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber).
- f. Regarding claim 6, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 5, further including: configuring the definition of "legal standards" or "best practices"; querying in real time whether sending a particular e-mail conforms to "legal standards" or "best practices" for each e-mail address (column 1, lines 32-39: legitimate subscription-type messages; column 2, lines 28-36: invention in interactive real time messaging service; column 3, lines 4-21: legitimate recurring messages; column 3, lines 22-29 and 52-65: subscription manager process incoming messages and determine whether an individual message matches the filtering rules stored in a subscription database accessible to a message service; column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and - associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber; line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription).

- g. Regarding claim 7, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to modify, update, or delete opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and update subscription database; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription cancellation form).
- h. Regarding claim 8, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms for real-time "DO NOT E-MAIL" queries (column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database and rule database used in screening out unauthorized broadcast messages).
- i. Regarding claim 9, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to synchronize information with external sources of opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users).
- j. Regarding claim 10, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to synchronize information with external recipients of opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain - and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users).

- k. Regarding claim 11, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to collect, store, process and distribute opt-in or subscription information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription start form).
- l. Regarding claim 12, Aoki disclosed a method as recited in claim 1, further including: utilizing the database and processing mechanisms for e-mail list "cleaning" of addresses to be removed (column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription cancellation form).
- m. Regarding claim 13, Aoki disclosed a system for managing opt-out or unsubscribe information (Fig. 1, item 42; column 5, line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription) comprising: means for collecting an e-mail address and contextual information for a user (column 5, lines 27-39: listing of approved message sources maintained for each individual destination user address along with predetermined parameters); means for storing the e-mail address and contextual information in a database (column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database);

- means for processing the e-mail address and contextual information for rule-based and learning-based use (column 4, lines 45-54: filter rules provided; column 3, line 32-65: complete subscription agreement on a visit to a web site; Fig. 3, items 104, 114, 116, 38 and column 6, lines 4-26: new subscription upon a message not part of any authorized subscription; 1st paragraph on page 7 of applicant's specification); and means for distributing or sharing the e-mail address and contextual information, and derived processed data to an entity entitled to such information, at intervals or upon request (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating approved list; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 5, lines 27-39: controlled or periodically updated).
- n. Regarding claim 14, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 13, wherein said opt-out or unsubscribe system is a sub-system of a system which also sends e-mail (Fig. 1, items 22 and 32: mail server, mail subscription manager; column 5, lines 11-26: send outbound messages via 32 and 22).
- o. Regarding claim 15, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 13, wherein said opt-out or unsubscribe system is a sub-system of a system which also provides e-mail list management functions (Fig. 1, items 22 and 32: mail server, mail subscription manager; column 5, lines 27-39: listing of approved message sources maintained for each individual user by subscription manager).

- p. Regarding claim 16, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 13, further comprising means for collecting opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information from a plurality of sources, including HTML form inputs, HTTP links, bulk text-file import, or other input mechanisms (column 3, lines 30-65: World Wide Web site and email; column 6, lines 35-42: Web page, email).
- q. Regarding claim 17, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 13, further comprising means to configure the method for collection of opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information (column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database automatically assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber).
- r. Regarding claim 18, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 13, further comprising means to select a distribution method from a plurality of methods including File Transport Protocol (FTP), E-mail, Hypertext Transfer Protocol (HTTP), Graphical User Interface (GUI), or other network transport mechanism (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 6, lines 35-42: Web page, email).
- s. Regarding claim 19, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 13, further comprising means for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to conform to legal standards or best practices for e-mail marketing (column 1, lines 32-39: legitimate subscription-type messages; column 3, lines 4-21: legitimate recurring messages; column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database; line 40-column 6, line 3:

- double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription; column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber).
- t. Regarding claim 20, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 19, further comprising means to define or configure "legal standards" or "best practices" and to query in real time whether sending a particular e-mail conforms to "legal standards" or "best practices" for each e-mail address (column 1, lines 32-39: legitimate subscription-type messages; column 2, lines 28-36: invention in interactive real time messaging service; column 3, lines 4-21: legitimate recurring messages; column 3, lines 22-29 and 52-65: subscription manager process incoming messages and determine whether an individual message matches the filtering rules stored in a subscription database accessible to a message service; column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber; line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription).
- u. Regarding claim 21, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 20, further comprising means for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to modify, update, or delete opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and update subscription database; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription cancellation form).
- v. Regarding claim 22, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 20, further comprising means for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms for real-time

- "DO NOT E-MAIL" queries (column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database and rule database used in screening out unauthorized broadcast messages).
- w. Regarding claim 23, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 20, further comprising means for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to synchronize information with external sources of opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users).
- x. Regarding claim 24, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 20, further comprising means for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to synchronize information with external recipients of opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users).
- y. Regarding claim 25, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 20, further comprising means for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to collect, store, process and distribute opt-in or subscription information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and - updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription start form).

- z. Regarding claim 26, Aoki disclosed a system as recited in claim 20, further comprising means for utilizing the system for e-mail list "cleaning" of addresses to be removed (column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription cancellation form).
- aa. Regarding claim 27, Aoki disclosed a computer program embodied on a computer readable medium for managing opt-out or unsubscribe information (Fig. 1, item 42; column 5, line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription), the computer program code comprising: a code segment for collecting an e-mail address and contextual information for a user (column 5, lines 27-39: listing of approved message sources maintained for each individual destination user address along with predetermined parameters); a code segment for storing the e-mail address and contextual information in a database (column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database); a code segment for processing the e-mail address and contextual information for rule-based and learning-based use (column 4, lines 45-54: filter rules provided; column 3, line 32-65: complete subscription agreement on a visit to a web site; Fig. 3, items 104, 114, 116, 38 and column 6, lines 4-26: new subscription upon a message not part of any authorized subscription; 1st paragraph on page 7 of applicant's specification); and a code segment for distributing or sharing the e-mail address, contextual information, and derived processed data to an entity entitled to - such information, at intervals or upon request (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating approved list; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 5, lines 27-39: controlled or periodically updated).

- bb. Regarding claim 28, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for collecting opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information from a plurality of sources, including HTML form inputs, HTTP links, bulk text-file import, or other input mechanisms (column 3, lines 30-65: World Wide Web site and email; column 6, lines 35-42: Web page, email).
- cc. Regarding claim 29, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment to configure the means for collection of opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information (column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database automatically assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber).
- dd. Regarding claim 30, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment to select a distribution method from a plurality of methods including File Transport Protocol (FTP), E-mail, Hypertext Transfer Protocol (HTTP), Graphical User Interface (GUI), or other network transport mechanism (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message

- service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 6, lines 35-42: Web page, email).
- ec. Regarding claim 31, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to conform to legal standards or best practices for e-mail marketing (column 1, lines 32-39: legitimate subscription-type messages; column 3, lines 4-21: legitimate recurring messages; column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database; line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription; column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber).
- ff. Regarding claim 32, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 31, further comprising a code segment to define or configure "legal standards" or "best practices" and to query in real time whether sending a particular e-mail conforms to "legal standards" or "best practices" for each e-mail address (column 1, lines 32-39: legitimate subscription-type messages; column 2, lines 28-36: invention in interactive real time messaging service; column 3, lines 4-21: legitimate recurring messages; column 3, lines 22-29 and 52-65: subscription manager process incoming messages and determine whether an individual message matches the filtering rules stored in a subscription database accessible to a message service; column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber; line 40-column 6, line 3: double opt-out confirmation on canceling subscription).

- gg. Regarding claim 33, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to modify, update, or delete opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and update subscription database; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription cancellation form).
- hh. Regarding claim 34, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms for real-time "DO NOT E-MAIL" queries (column 5, lines 11-26: subscription database and rule database used in screening out unauthorized broadcast messages).
- ii. Regarding claim 35, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to synchronize information with external sources of opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users).
- jj. Regarding claim 36, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to synchronize information with external recipients of opt-out or unsubscribe information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users).

- kk. Regarding claim 37, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms to collect, store, process and distribute opt-in or subscription information (column 3, lines 42-51: service provider provide subscription-type message; column 1, lines 58-63: maintain and updating subscription database; column 2, lines 4-11: maintain and updating subscription among message service provide, message source partner and recipient users; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription start form).
- ll. Regarding claim 38, Aoki disclosed a computer program as recited in claim 27, further comprising a code segment for utilizing the database and processing mechanisms for e-mail list "cleaning" of addresses to be removed (column 6, lines 35-42: subscription manager and associated database assures coordinated update, messaging among service provider, partner and subscriber; column 7, lines 34-38: subscription cancellation form).

Aoki disclosed all limitations of claims 1-38. Claims 1-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C.

102(e).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed on 03/05/2008 have been fully considered, but they are not persuasive.
- a. Applicant has argued that Aoki fails to teach the limitation of "processing the e-mail address and contextual information for rule-based and learning-based use" (see 1st paragraph on page 8 of current amendment). Examiner has reviewed applicant's description on the limitation as per 1st paragraph on page 7 of the specification. Examiner has searched and found that Aoki does have the limitation as per column 3, line 32-65 and Fig. 3, items 104, 114, 116, 38 and column 6, lines 4-26. The above claim rejection is updated with the references.
 - b. Applicant has argued that Aoki fails to teach the limitation of "collecting opt-out or unsubscribe e-mail information includes: input from a plurality of sources, including HTML form inputs, HTTP links, bulk text-file import, or other input mechanisms" (see 3rd paragraph on page 8 of current amendment). Examiner has reviewed applicant's description on the limitation as per 2nd and 3rd paragraphs on page 8 of the specification. Examiner has searched and found that Aoki does have the limitation as per column 3, lines 30-65 and column 6, lines 35-42. The input and transporting of information using web page site and e-mail seems to be well known art as per Aoki.
 - c. Applicant has amended and argued that Aoki fails to teach the limitation of "configuring the definition of "legal standards" or "best practices"; querying in real time whether sending a particular e-mail conforms to "legal standards" or "best practices" for each e-mail address" (see 5th paragraph on page 8 of current amendment). Examiner has reviewed the amended claim changes in light of applicant's original specification and claim set. Examiner has reviewed the claim rejection as per Office Action dated 11/08/2007 and applied prior art, i.e. Aoki. Examiner has found additional references from Aoki to cover the amended claim changes. Claim rejection is updated above to reflect the amended claim changes and additional cited references from Aoki.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

7. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Refer to the enclosed PTO-892 for details.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Peling A. Shaw whose telephone number is (571) 272-7968. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F 8:00 - 4:00.
